‘The Future of Conrad Studies’ Lecture by Yael Levin

On-line 22 August 2023

11:00 British Summer Time (19:00 Japan Standard Time)

We are reading Conrad differently. The presentation will reflect on the contemporary moment in literary criticism side by side with political, cultural and discursive shifts in Conrad studies. It will start with an overview of the new critical lenses of planetary studies, post-critique and new modernisms and the way they reframe and transform our interpretation of the canonical works. The talk will touch on some of the pressure points in academia today and consider the ways in which we might protect Conrad's place in the literary canon.
